THE LATE SENATOR. Funeral Services Held in the Senate Chamber.

Washington, May 6.—Under a dripping sky the mortal remains of James Burnie Beck, late United States senator from Kentucky, were borne at 10 o'clock this morning from the residence of Representative Breckinridge, of Kentucky, to the capitol. They were accompanied by the senate committee on arrangements and honorary pail bearers named by the delegation yesterday. Arriving at the east front the senators and pall bearers left their carriages and forming in two lines with Senators Blackburn and Evarts at the head, the casket was borne from the hearse by a detail of eight of the capitol police up the steps and into the marble room, where it was visited by several hundred persons before its removal into the senate chamber.

The casket was covered with black cloth and bore a silver plate with the words;

The casket was covered with black cloth and bore a silver plate with the words; "James Burnie Beck, born February 13, 1822, died May 3, 1890." On the casket lay a bunch of croses from Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Breekenridge, and the glass through which the face and bust of the deceased were visible was wreathed with lillies of the valley. The features of the late sentor were unchanged and "How natural he looka," was the exclamation of all those who looked upon them who were acquainted with them in life. A number of floral tributes were brought to the sente chamber and displayed on the clerk's desk.

After the ceremony the casket was borne to the hearse through the east door of the capited between two lines composed of the senate and house committee on arrangaments, who stood with uncovered heads. The rest of those who were to accompany the remains to the Baltimore & Potomac station fell into line and the procession started. Preceding the hearse were the members of the house and senate committees on foot, and following them were the family and relatives in carriages, members of the senate and house, the president and members of the calinet in carriages and members of the calinet in carriages and members of the house and senate and foot. Upon arrival at the station the casket was carried to house and senate and foot. Upon arrival at the station the casket was carried to the exact spat where the deceased senator fell dead last Saturday and there was allowed to remain a few moments. The casket was then berne to the train. Those who accompanied the body to Kentucky besides the family and a few of their friends were the committee of atrangements, the Kentucky delegation. Lieutenant Young, of the navy, and some of the honorary pall bearers. The train started at 4 p. m., and will arrive at Lexington to morrow at 9 a. m. to morrow at 9 a. m.

A Telegram to Senator Jones from Mr. Gibbs, President of the English Bi-Metallist League.

Emperor William Opens the Reichstag-His Peace Policy Outlined-Strengthened Armaments the Only Safeguard - Tariff Revision the First Legislation Touched.

London, May 6.—Mr. Gibbs, ex-president of the Bank of England and president of the Bi-Metallic league, has cabled the following to Senator Jones in the name of the Bi-Metallic league:

"The friends of silver deeply regret the death of Senator Beck, whose services in the cause of monetary reform are most warmly appreciated on this side of the Atlantic. The bi-metallist party in the United Kingdom, now including over one hundred members of the house of commons, attach the greatest value to the debate about to commence in your illustrious chamber. We fully recognize now not only that the support afforded silver by your legislation during the past twelve years has helped to protect the industrial world from acute monetary crises but also that the debates in congress have served more than all else to educate our people to the recognition of of the importance of the issues involved. We believe also that the increased colnage of silver contemplated by congress will restore wholly or considerably your coinage rates, and will thus make an international settlement of this complex question comparatively easy. We have much confidence that the advance in the price of silver which must follow your action will both stimulate the export trades of your country and while tending to the prosperity of your agricultural classes will also assist the manufacturing industries of the United States and the whole body of our wage-earners.

Bent./N, May 6.—The reichstag was opened by the emperor today. In his opening address his majesty declared that the effort to maintain the peace of Europe increased and he expressed the conviction that he will succeed in confirming the confidence of the powers in the pacific policy of Germany. Germany, the emperor said, recognizes that to protect peace by cultivating an alliance for purposes of defense and also by perfecting his armaments, for which purpose a new military credit will be asked. The emperor then announced that measures will be presented for improving the condition of the working men. Referring to the foreign relations of Germany, his majesty said that his efforts were unceasingly directed towards the maintenance of peace. He said: "I am able to express the conviction that my endeavors to strengthen the confidence of all foreign governments in the security afforded by our proling have been successful.

Topeka, Kan., May 6.—The following crop report was issued today by Secretary Mohler, of the state board of agriculture: From the reports just received from the correspondents of this board, representing 104 of the 106 counties of the state, we learn that the very satisfactory agricultural condition of the state, a month ago, is fully maintained at this date.

Winter wheat—Winter wheat, which in many portions of the state had been seriously damaged by the cold weather and high winds of March, has recovered and much that was reported a month ago "winter killed" has shown life. One month ago II per cent was reported winter killed. One correspondent says only 7 per cent will be plowed up. In the extreme western portion, especially in the northwestern portion, of the state a large percentage of the crop was lost and in the northern counties generally extending through the state, there is some complaint of a shortage of rainfall. While the wheat plant is not suffering yet, conditions have not been favorable to a vigorous growth and unless abundant rains come soon, the crop will be cut short. In a few counties, in south and southeastern Kansas also there is the same complaint, especially in Montgomery and Chautanqua counties, and the wheat is reported seriously damaged in many portions of the state. Wheat is in excellent condition and promising a large yield, and with caomparatively few exceptions, the condition for the state two with the which which the state is in a general way satisfactory, our correspondents making the average condition for the state two

> 'On next Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock the citizens of R- will have an oppor-tunity to witness one of the most wonderful exhibitions of Edison's genius as an electrician that has ever been seen. At that time a telegraph wire will be connected with The Omaha Bee office and Beecher's church, in Brooklyn, and several tunes will be played on the organ of the church, which can be heard at all points through which the wires will pass. The local manager of the Western Union has been notified that one of his wires will be used, so that all who are at the Western Union office at the above mentioned time will hear this mar-velous performance of Edison's latest invention, which is called the terlaphone."

"Well, you would have thought there was a country fair in progress in that town the next Saturday. As early as 9 a. m. the farmers began to come in, and by 3 o'clock the office and the pavement in front of it was crowded with those smart electricians who would hear the music box and then tell each other how easy it was done. Yes, they heard it and told how it was done, but their explanation of it was on a par with their sense on electric lighting." "But where did the music come from!" asked one of the boys whose shoes were fast filling with muddy Ohio river water.

"Well, I'll tell you. A girl at the house where I boarded had a little music box that played three tunes. Two of them I had never heard before nor since I saw the box, and the third one was "The Last Rose of Summer.' I took the box and put it in the bottom drawer on one side of my desk and put a match under the wheel so the thing couldn't go off, and on the end of the match I tied a long piece of thread, which I run up behind the desk to the top drawer on the other side and fastened it, so that if I pulled that drawer out the thread would pull the match out of the wheel and let the
